A SYBARITIC FAMILY ROOM FLOWS OUT OF

Labrum's sleek kitchen. She designed all the principal furnishings, except for the Cisco Brothers pouf, upholstered in Edelman Leather. The basement media room is more eclectic, ranging from the restrained geometries of a custom rug and drapes to the more rugged feel of the bar, with its wood stools by Organic Modernism. The husband's home office has a more serious air, its Barcelona chairs reupholstered in a Clarence House fabric, and its custom desk, rugs and cabinetry.

The second-floor master suite is all about understated glamor, notably in the built-in storage which is silver-leafed to match the walls and enlivened with display niches and inset panels of antique-mirror glass. The same silvery finishes are carried through the dressing room and the master bathroom, covered in Ann Sacks metallic tiles. The third-floor guest suite functions as an independent apartment when the husband's parents come to stay. Throughout, Labrum has accommodated the divergent tastes and needs of her clients, achieving a harmony that turns their house into a welcoming sanctuary. ■ Hirsch Associates, 312 836 0011, hirschassociates.com; Wendy Labrum Interiors, 312 217 4224, wendylabruminteriors.com
