“ Designed to feel like a warm, welcoming home, the bar area summarises the family-oriented hospitality of Din Tai Fung. The room is anchored on one end by the bar and the other end by the dumpling kitchen.

The dumpling kitchen, a centrepiece of every Din Tai Fung location, has been moved to the dining area, offering a stage to showcase the brand at work. The ceiling is a primary focal point that ties the two spaces together and is designed to resemble a tapestry.

The dumpling kitchen, a centrepiece of every Din Tai Fung location, has been moved to the dining area, offering a stage to showcase the brand at work. The ceiling is a primary focal point that ties the two

There are two dining rooms, inspired by a courtyard feel, on either side of the central bar area that mirror one another. These two flanking dining areas are differentiated by colour palette - one green and the other a shade of red jade.

The wall covering on the ceiling mimics an awning commonly found in outdoor pavilions. Dark flooring marks the perimeter of the space, while light coloured flooring distinguishes the seating area, underscoring the feeling of stepping into a garden. Dining pods along the perimeter of the rooms feature rounded banquettes, floor-to-ceiling metal screens, and large custom pendants. ■

MAYA ROMANOFF

Maya Romanoff is a manufacturer of luxurious wallcoverings—specializing in handcraft. Our artisans methodically incorporate materials such as glass beads, gold leaf, seashells, and wood with pigments, dye and more to create extraordinary surfacing materials, right in our Chicago Studio.

Whether our wallcoverings are produced locally in our studio, or abroad in one of our partnering mills, handmade or by machine, every product is put through our rigorous standard for quality, beauty and innovation, with our guiding mantra being “make every wall beautiful.”

At Din Tai Fung New York we were asked to create a custom interpretation of our inline screen-printed collection, Serigraph Dynasty, using a high-performance, digitally printed Type II Vinyl through MAYA's Atelier™ program. The custom wallcovering was installed in the private dining rooms at Din Tai Fung New York. MAYA's Tremolo™ hand-painted wallcovering was also installed in the common areas of the restaurant.

At Maya Romanoff we love to collaborate with our clients. We enjoy getting to understand their goals and having the opportunity to deliver a solution that exceeds their expectations creatively and meets their project's performance and budget requirements. We are extremely proud of our collaborative work on Din Tai Fung; our client entrusted us to bring their vision to life and we are all very happy with the result. ■
